

Appia Communications Awarded Premium Partner Status by 3CX | Only a handful of partners have achieved 3CX premium status

TRAVERSE CITY, MI - February 15, 2012 - Appia Communications, a leading provider of managed communication and network services, today announced that it has reached the highest partnership designation by 3CX. 3CX is the developer of one of the most popular software phone systems in the world.

"Appia offers three ways to use 3CX's powerful solution," said Victor von Schlegell, president of Appia Communications. "Use our managed VoIP Appia Cubed offering, which is based on 3CX; locate your 3CX server in our data center, or locate the 3CX server at your site and use our SIP trunks."

"Customers get enterprise features at a start-up price," von Schlegell continued. "They can choose the phone they like for their desktop. They can also take the service on the road, with software for iPhone and Android devices that replicates key features and functions."
