

Appia Communications Offers New Unlimited SIP Trunking Option | Now customers can choose unlimited calling including Canada for their PBXs

TRAVERSE CITY, MI - November 17, 2011 - Appia Communications, a leading provider of managed communications and network services, today announced a new SIP trunking option with unlimited inbound and outbound calling in the U.S. and Canada.

"We offer more SIP choices than anyone," said Victor von Schlegell, president of Appia Communications. "With our earlier announcement of unlimited call paths and now our unlimited usage trunks; customers have unequalled flexibility."

The new SIP trunking solution includes one simultaneous call, 911 service, directory listing, and caller name. It is available immediately through Appia partners and regional managers.

"Regardless of which IP-PBX a customer may have, we have a solution that fits their needs," said Jason Ulm, vice president of channel sales for Appia. "Our new unlimited SIP trunk gives customers solid and reliable service for a set price each month. Appia partners can now craft a solution with Appia that used to require two or three different providers."
